W.B. Reduse CORSETS

The Perfect Corset for Large Women

It places over-developed women on the same basis as their slender sisters. It tapers off the bust, flattens the abdomen, and absolutely reduces the hips from 4 to 5 inches. Not a harness—not a cumbersome affair, no torturing straps, but the most scientific example of corsetry, boxed in such a manner as to give the wearer absolute freedom of movement.

New W. B. Reduse No. 770 for large tall women. Made of white coutil. Hose supporters front and sides, also made in batiste. Sizes 20 to 36. Price $3.00.

New W. B. Reduse No. 772 for large short women. Is the same as No. 770, except that the bust is somewhat lower all around. Made of white coutil. Hose supporters front and sides. Also made in batiste. Sizes 20 to 36. Price $3.00.

Ask any dealer anywhere to show you the New W. B. "Hip-subduing" models from $1.00 to $3.00 per pair.

THE NOVEMBER

American Magazine Contains Good Articles.

Miss Ida M. Tarbell begins her new historical serial in the November American Magazine. This will be the most important work Miss Tarbell has undertaken since her "History of the Standard Oil Company." Its theme will be the American woman and the important and heroic part that she has played in shaping the destinies of the nation since the revolutionary days of 1776. The series will be illustrated with many beautiful portraits.

This issue of the American Magazine also contains the first chapters of "Simon the Jester," William J. Lock's new novel which is said to be the most thrilling he has yet written. The second article about "Barbarous Mexico" by John Kenneth Turner also appears in this number. Mr. Turner's adventures and his account of the tragic fate of the Yaqui Indians at the hands of the Mexican government are at the same time absorbing, fascinating and appalling. Three other articles are additional features of this November issue. They are, "Joseph Pulitzer"—the blind editor and owner of the New York World—a fascinating and intimate study of an extraordinary personality. "The Mistakes of a Young Telegraph Operator"—which is an exposition of railroad operating methods, and "The Beauty Business" by Anne Hard—an uproariously funny article which has to be read to be appreciated.

Shorty McCabe.

Have you made the acquaintance of the latest hit in American humor—Sewell Ford's "Shorty McCabe" stories? If not you are missing a heap of fun. Shorty is a "character" in every sense of the word. As an artist in humorous slang he can match George Ade's fables, and as a creator of original and witty phrases he can match Mr. Dooley, but Shorty can beat his predecessors in the art of telling a good story. It is a genuine story every time, too, with a hilariously funny plot and with characters that are alive and kicking, full of the quirks and absurdities of universal human nature.

Shorty McCabe, his better half, Sadie and their laughable adventures in New York society can be found and enjoyed only in the Sunday Magazine of the Chicago Record-Herald, whose editor has the honor of having discovered Sewell Ford's powers as a humorist. This unique magazine is filled with fiction and timely articles every week, written by many of the most noted authors of our day, but nothing seems able to overshadow the perennial interest in the Shorty McCabe stories, which appear every second week throughout the year. Wherever you go you will hear people talking and laughing over them. Thousands of people take the Sunday Record-Herald simply for its Sunday Magazine and the inimitable Shorty McCabe. It begins to be a question whether Shorty is not a more popular personage than Mr. Dooley.

The Family Reading Problem

To find reading that satisfies one's craving for the bright and attractive, and is at the same time perfectly suitable for impressionable young people, is at times difficult. The best magazines are admittedly published for mature readers only. The Youth's Companion alone is for all the family. While the editors keep in mind the eager desire of the young for tales of action, enterprise and adventure, these stories in The Companion are so well written as to fascinate men and women in all stages of life's journey. And this is true not only of the fiction in the Youth's Companion, but of the entire contents. The articles, by famous writers, convey knowledge that is useful to the wisest and most experienced as well as to the immature. In short, The Companion solves the reading problem for the entire family. It is entertaining and it is "worth while."

Every new subscriber will find it of special advantage to send at once the $1.75 for the new 1910 Volume. Not only does he get the beautiful "Venetian" Calendar for 1910, lithographed in thirteen colors and gold, but all the issues of The Companion for the remaining weeks of 1909, from the time the subscription is received.

Christian Churches of Christian County Observe It Together.

At a county Sunday School meeting of Christian Churches held last Summer at Rich, the Ninth Street church of this city invited the members of the other churches of the county to observe with her the Lord's Supper on October 31st. The time is at hand. The services will be held at 2 o'clock p. m. next Lord's Day. The invitation is hereby renewed and urged. Let every member of a Christian church within the county and such friends as may be inclined to worship with us in this service, join us promptly at the hours indicated. We expect a glad and happy waiting before the Lord.

"SIMPLY GRAND."

Wilber Wright Took First Woman in Flying Machine In Flight at Washington.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27—Wilbur Wright, who refused the appeals of kings and dukes, diplomats and even the daughter of a former president, today for the first time in this country, took a woman up with him for a sky trip. Mrs. Ralph Van Daman, wife of a captain in the United States army, was the honored one. After several thrilling minutes in the air, Mrs. Van Daman smiling and happy jumped out of the passenger seat to the ground and said: "Oh dear me, it was simply grand."
